BLOOMBERG TALKS AGAIN

Explains His Connection With Affairs of Busby.

WAS TRYING TO HELP HIM

He Also Says that Mr. Harry Marks In. tervened Only After Being Asked to Do So in the interest of the Plaintiff.

In addition to the statement of Mr. oil L. Bloomberg, already printed in The Times-Dispatch, with reference to his connection with the J. H. Busby stitt against himself and others, the popular president of the Council gave out the following yesterday:

"The first inlimation I had of the institution of this suit was the announcement thereof upon a bulletin board, and that being on the eve of my holiday, which I observed until sundown on yesterday, I have had no previous opportunity of making a full statement of my connection with the affair, which I feel is demanded after the very scurribus allogations of the plaintiff.

"On the day which Mr. Marks wrote the letter, Mr. Luther Dawson, a practicing attorney, in good standing at the bar of this city, called at my office and inquired if I held any claims against Busby. I told him that I did not, but that I knew he dealt very largely with my regular client, Mr. Harry Marks, who had previously consuited me with reference to a large bill sold to Busby, and who, in the event of any proceedings, would certainly bring his account to me. "Mr. Dawson then told me that he ronresented Busby, who was embarrassed, for want of ready mouey with which to meet his obligations, which had become and were then becoming due, and that some of his creditors were getting impatient and were theratening proceedings. He said that while Busby did not have the cash he had carefully gone over his affairs and believed that if he could securs the time and be parmitted to realize on his assets, he would be able to psy dollar for dollar.

"He then asked me to assist him and endeavor to get control of the claims, giving me his personal assurance that they would be paid in full, stating that there were a number of them which he could control and would get me to represent.

romise made, I, therefore, agreed to help im (feeling that I was thereby helping is client) and consented to endeavor to course the claims and control proceedings, upon his assurance that the claims could be paid in tull. Thereupon he gave need to be a mines of a number of Bushy s reditors, and the names of some merantile attorneys in their cities, whom a thought could procure the accounts to then left my office under the improsion that I would write to these attorneys.

SAW MR. MARKS.

"I immediately saw Mr. Marks, to whom Busby was still indebted, and informed him of Mr. Dawson's statement to me, showing him the list of creditors and asking him if he knew any of them. He was well acquainted with some five or six, and was intimately associated with some of the largost. I requested that he write to those he knew and ask them to send their claims, to which he demurred, stating that he was a friend of Busby's and would do nöthing to burt or injuring the fact that I was eating for Busby's attorney, and that it was my purpose to control the situation, which would help Busby, and at the same time insure payment of the claims in full, that he consented to send copies of a letter) which I then prepared, to those parties whom he knew and whom he felt assured would comply with his request. In Mr. Davis interview with me there was not a word said about his having had any connection with Busby, except as his attorney, nor was any reference made as to any fees or charges.

CALLS THEM MALICIOUS.
"I refrain from expressing my feelings with reference to those false, scandalous and malicious charges as set forth in the declaration, and will only say that so far as Marks and myself are concerned they are absolutely untrue, and that Busby knows this to be so, for some time back he came to my office with Mr. Marks, and I explained to him our whole connection with the matter, and he left us fully informed as to eyerything we had done and our motives for so doing. Subsequently he called to see me again with his coupset, and I want to emphasize sequently he called to see me again with his coursel, and I want to emphasize the fact that he was not of those who brought this suit, and to him I also explained the whole situation, apparently to his satisfaction; and, if his subsequent and present counsel had likewise shown me the consideration to which I feel I was entitled. I am satisfied that no such effort would have been made to cast a stigma upon the reputation which I feel I have earned for myself in this community."

CONFERENCE AND THE APPOINTMENTS

Pretty Lively Discussion Has Sprung Up About

In view of the near approach of the meeting of the Virginia Conference and the usual preparation and goesty that pracedes every session of that body, considerable interest attaches to a discussion now going the rounds anent the habit of arranging appointments prior to the meeting of the conference.

In a regard issue, the Weslyan Advocate handled, with gloves off, an extract in one of the recent issues of the Christian Advocate, of this city, which extract had been originally clipped from a Virginia daily and purported to give anumber of probable apoliticates at the approaching session of the Virginia Conference. The Richmond Advocate this week takes up the matter steelf and lays the whole-blame on the shoulders of the reporter.

"Of course, the whole thing is unsuched the meet surmisings of the Writer, of the meet surmisings of the Writer, of the repetition of hearsay reports. We have no idea that any arrangements have been entered into beforehand for ministerial assignments for the coming year. We believe our brethren in Virginia are above any such unmethodistic scheming.

"After a few more uncomplimentary remarks about reporters, the Advocate uroceds to agree with the Wesleyan Advocate. The elitorial concludes with the following words:

"We trust that the practice of arranging appointments beforehand, which is

People Staid Out, and that People Refrained from Voting With No

War-Like Intentions,

It is believed from what can be gathered in political circles that there will be no independent legislative ticket in the field in Richmond this fall, and if there shall be, it will cut but little figure in the November election.

indight in Richmond this fall, and if there shall be, it will cut but little figure in the November election.

An alliance of the anti-Mann bill people, the labor element and the Republicans has been suggested, but developments of Tuesday's primary manifestly indicate that the former could not be counted upon to stand in revolt against the Democratic nominees, for there was no other class of citizens half so active as they in bringing about the result.

They were well organized, and nearly all of them voted and worked for the very ticket which was named, and there is no question of their disposition to support the nominees at the general election.

OTHERS STAYED OUT.

Then, again, it was not altogether the labor people who stayed away from the polls, nor did all of them, by any means, refrain from voting. Many of those allied with labor unions went to the polls and voted for Mr. Wallace and others, who are favorites with them, and there seemed to be no organized effort to keep any class of citizens from voting. As a matter of fact there was no public interest in the primary, and beyond the liquor people, no class of citizens from voting. As a matter of fact there was no public interest in the primary, and beyond the liquor people, no class of citizens from voting. As a matter of fact there was no public interest in large numbers, and it is not contended by any one that they even dream of boiling. There were many reasons for the lack of interest, which was so evident. There had been no canvass by the candidates to stir the voters up and not a single public meeting had been held.

NO SWEEFING ISSUE.

There was no issue of sweeping moment involved, upon which the candidates and the peole were divided, and those who are in charge care a great deal more for controlling the local dirganization for the mental of the can of the mental that in the primary and those who are in charge care a great deal more for controlling the local dirganization for

favor several of the nominees.

PLAN WAS POPULAR.

There was one feature of Tuesday's primary which seemed to commend itself to the voters, and that was the viva voce system of balloting. No one was heard to complain of its workings and overy one is satisfied that the method is absolutely fair. Major Christian, who was defeated by Mr. Kolley for the House after such a close race, was bright and chirpy yesterday, though he expressed some disappointment that his friends had not turned out in larger numbers to help film.

Present indications seem to point to Democratic success in Richmond this fall, and probably without any strong opposition.

A DIFFERENT VIEW

A DIFFERENT VIEW.

Others, however, take a different view.
"There will be an opposition ticket in the field for the State Senate in this city, if not for members of the House also in teh genera lelection in November." said a well known member of the Republican City Committee to a reporter for The Times-Dispatch yesterday. Another member of the committee endorsed this prophecy.

other member of the committee endorsed this prophecy.

"The small vote polled in the Democratic primary on Tuesday indicates the widespread apathy and disaffection in the Democratic ranks. Why out of nearly 10,000 voters registered in the city hardly 3,700 were recorded in the primary. This leaves about 6,300 from which an opposition licket may draw. I regard the light vote polled as indicative of dissatisfaction with the Democratic administration and especially as indicating opposition to the Mann liquor bill. nesides, I think it probable that of the 3,700 votes cast in the Democratic primary, probably 1,000 would not feel bound to support the nominees, or, if they did, would accord them a mere negative support."

would accord them a mere negative support."

Will the Republicans place a ticket in the field? wag asked.

"No, but the Republicans of the city will support a fusion anti-Democratic ticket, if given any representation thereon. A ticket to be known as the Citizens' Fusion ticket is likely to be placed in the field, and will receive the support of the great bulk of the Republicans, if the men thereon are acceptable to the party. They need not necessarily all be Republicans, but if the Republicans party is represented on the Fusion ticket we will support it."

The two committeemen were asked who, if any one, had been mentioned for the such as he suggested. He stated that Mr. John M. Ryall, president of the Trades and Labor Council, had been suggested as a good man, and that if he would consent to run on a Citizens' ticket he would he acceptable to Republicans by reason of his past party affiliations. Others, they said, had been suggested, among them a well known young lawyer of this city, whose name would not he mentioned without his consent.

THE REPUBLICANS.

When asked as to the prospective action of the Republican Committee in placing an opposition ticket in the field against the candidates nominated in the primary of Tuesday last, the committeemen stated that in their opinion it would be premature for their committee to meat at present; that the initiative step to be taken in the formation of an opposition ticket was expected from the Labor League and their friends, who had abstanced from which action would be taken by the Republican Committee is to their representation on the proposed Citizens' Fusion ticket.

sentation on the proposed Ciferns' Pusion ticket.

Just what will come of the matter remains to be seen. Some time ago the Republican City Committee mot and adopted a resolution in the nature of an overture to the labor element and the opponents of the Mann liquor bilt to form a fusion with the Republicans and support an anti-Democratic ticket which it is now agreed will be called the Cittzens' Fusion ticket. Just what enguragement if any, the proposal is meeting from the organized labor bodies of the city is not known, or if Known is not made public.

On the other band, the Democratic nom-

On the other hand, the Democratic nominees and the party authorities attach no importance whatever to the prospective fusion opposition, and do not believe the the disaffected elements can be fused.

NEW DEPARTMENT WILL BE OPENED

School of Biology to Be Started at Richmond College This Session.

Arrangements have just been completed for a Department of Biology to be added to Richmond College at the opening of the new session, which begins to-morrow. The services of Dr. Wightman, of Randolph-Macon, have been obtained for the course. Dr. Wightman is probably the best known biologist in the State, and it is a matter of common knowledge that he was recently offored the chair of biology in the University of Virginia. He saw fit, however, to decline the flattering offer. His acceptance of the instructorship at Richmond College does not in any way mean that he will sever his connection with Randolph-Macon. He will continue to live an Ashland, and will come down to Richmond on lecture days. The luboratory work will be four hours weekly, under the charge of Dr. Wightman or some assistant, probably Dr. Carroll M. Baggerly, of this city.

The addition of the course to the college will place it on a par with all other institutions in the flate, so far as admittance to the universities and larger medical schools is concerned. The laburatory and class rooms recently finished, on the third floor of the Science Hall, will be furned over to the new school. About $100 worth of instruments was ordered last year, and yesterday Dr. Boatwight placed an order with the Arthur H. Thomas Company, of Philadelphia, for about $400 additional equipment.
